Stop Managing, Start Coaching

How to Bring Out the Best in Yourself and in Others

You want greater employee performance and retention. You want the people in your life to find their way, own their impact and be happy and successful. To achieve these requires that you stop managing and start coaching. Managing directs, tells and controls; it inhibits relationships which limits thinking, loyalty and performance. Coaching encourages, asks and guides to improve relationships which increases engagement, critical thinking and accountability.

Come learn how to think and act like a workplace coach. You will learn an easy-to-implement mindfulness and coaching process that will expand what you know of yourself and improve how you interact with the people in your work and life. This is key to bringing out the best in yourself and in others.

Thursday, April 18
Noon - 2:45 pm

Columbia Conference Center
169 Laurelhurst Ave

Lunch is included

This program is approved for 2.5 hours of HRCI and has been applied for 3 hours from the SC Department of Insurance.

Jay Forte, MBA, CPC, ELI-MP, President of The Forte Factor

Jay is a certified professional coach, author, educator and nationally ranked thought leader on performance and potential. He is the author of Fire Up! Your Employees and Smoke Your Competition, The Greatness Zone and the ClearCoach Workplace Coaching Program.

Register by April 10.

Sponsored by:

BlueChoice HealthPlan South Carolina

South Carolina

BlueCross BlueShield of South Carolina is an independent licensee of the pai — We make Benefits Better.

AmericanBenefitServices

Cigna

Colonial Life — Making benefits count.

Principal

GUARDIAN

DAVID M. GILSTON INSURANCE AGENCY, INC.

MESSER Financial Group

alpine agency

Hibbits Insurance, Inc.

ASHFORD ADVISORS — FINANCIAL SERVICES SINCE 1898

Offering Guardian Individual Disability, Life and Life/Long Term Care